Before information about you and your family is shared we will ask for your consent and explain what this means.

Why do we share your information?

Sharing your information helps the people working with you and your family to understand your circumstances and the needs you may have. It also means we can work together to provide you and your family with the best help and support available. We may also use your information to review services and carry out statistical research.

What are the benefits of sharing information?

Sharing information means you and your family:

- Get the best help and support available
- Are not asked the same questions again and again
- Get quicker and easier access to services and support
- Find decisions are made quicker
- Receive more 'joined-up' help and support
- Are kept safe and well
- Are better informed.

What information will be shared?

Information will only be shared that:

- Will mean a better service is provided to you and your family
- Helps keep you and your family safe
- Helps keep other people safe. People working with you and your family will explain:
 - Why they need to share your information
 - What information they are going to share and who with
 - The impact of not sharing information and what this could mean to you and your family.

Sharing information with your consent

We will ask you to agree to information about you and your family being shared. You will be asked to sign a 'Consent to Share Information' form. Your worker will give you a copy of this form and help you complete it if you'd like. Young people over the age of 12 who understand the process will be asked to give their own consent for their information to be shared.

Can I decide not to have my information shared?

Yes. However:

- This might make getting the help or support you and/or your family need slower or you might have to tell different people the same things
- If there is some information you don't want to share with some people and some information you are happy to share, please talk to your worker about this.
